Stephen:

The majority of the write-up looks fine except that I don't see anything from the write-up that shows progress on determining the disposal options for the oily and caustic wastes that clean harbors is evaluating. I would like to get some more detailed information on what they are doing, what options they are evaluating, when the evaluation will be complete, and when the selected alternative will be implemented. I have emailed Mark at clean harbors to get this information as well but you guys should already know this information.

Thanks
